

New Domain Name

Welcome to www.LongviewTexas.gov [1], the new official domain name for the City of Longview, Texas! We hope you find the updated website to be helpful as the primary resource for City government information.

Why Change the Domain Name?

Simplicity and security.

First, in terms of simplicity, the new domain www.LongviewTexas.gov [1] is easier to say, read, and type than our previous domain www.ci.longview.tx.us [2]. The new domain also updates city email addresses. Previously, city staff and citizens commented that it was difficult to communicate a staff email address over the phone.

Second, in terms of security, domain names that end in .gov are only available to qualified government entities. Unlike other domains, the .gov domain names are subject to additional restrictions and policies. The .gov domain also brings some additional security benefits to help prevent some types of internet problems.

As such, the .gov domain has become the standard choice for cities, states, and federal agencies.
